

Hopkinsville Kentuckian.

FRIDAY, JULY 19, 1889.

HOPKINSVILLE, KENTUCKY.

A live and growing city of 8,000 inhabitants, situated in a county of 40,000. The Louisville and Nashville line runs through the city. The largest tobacco growing county in the world. Wheat, corn, hay, coal, live stock and fruits produced for export in large quantities. The city has four banks with an aggregate capital of $1,000,000. A planing mill and wagon factory, three carriage factories, lime factory, tobacco manufactory, two foundries, three brickyards, broom factory, steam laundry, ice factory, two large flouring mills in the city and several in the county. Splendid driving park and fine opera house. Five turnpikes converging in Hopkinsville. Building and Loan Association, Commercial Club, a telephone exchange, numbered streets and houses and city lighted by gas. Manufactured streets and walks sidewalks all over the city. Eleven churches, two colleges, a high school and the finest system of public schools, white and colored, in the State. Western Kentucky Lunatic Asylum with a population of 600, two miles east of the city. A $100,000 court house with town clock in the dome. A fine fire department and a company of State Guards. Little River furnishes an adequate supply of water for all purposes. Real estate low and rents cheap. Fine opening for woolen mill, pork packing establishment, fruit cannery, tannery and many other enterprises. Climate mild and invigorating and exceedingly healthful.

Ghooly Kahn has gathered up his playthings and returned to his oriental heavey.

If Persia has any more Kahn goods to send us, it is to be hoped they will not go off in a ferment.

Kirain has arrived at Baltimore, while Sullivan was at last accounts on another drunk in Chicago.

Miss Gwendolin Caldwell, an American girl, has found a French prince who is willing to marry her in spite of her front name.

Winchester, after a spirited contest with Hopkinsville, was selected as the place of meeting for the Grand Lodge of Colored Odd Fellows next year.

If the comments of the press could for anything, Gov. Buckner is probably convinced by this time that the pardon of Cornwell was one of the mistakes of his administration.

Col. D. Howard Smith, formerly State Auditor and for many years a prominent Democratic politician, died suddenly at his home in Louisville Monday, of heart trouble. On the same day Francis Reidhar, a prominent banker of Louisville, also died very unexpectedly.

T. L. Stovall and Lee Duncan, editors of the Independent and T. S. Gavens, editor of the Welcome Tidings, were arrested at Elizabethtown Sunday charged with publishing incendiary articles in regard to the killing of Mrs. Showers, by her husband, Wm. Showers. They will be tried to-day.

Will S. Sterrett, of the Kentucky Colonist, prints an offer letter to Jake Kirain, challenging him to fight, which contains a rich vein of humor, as humor goes nowadays. Sterrett only needs a few terms at some good literary school and a proper course of training to develop him into a real humorist.

His home papers refer to Mr. McKenzie as a candidate for Senator, but we have now seen it stated upon his authority that Mr. McKenzie is a candidate for Senator. Speak, Jackson, or give up the gun—Louisville Times.

The Kentuckian announced by authority weeks ago that Mr. McKenzie was a candidate for Senator. Perhaps when we announce his election next spring the Times will have its doubts removed.

The Democratic State Convention at Jackson, Miss., this week nominated the following ticket: Governor, John M. Stone; Lieutenant Governor, M. M. Evans; Secretary of State, Geo. M. Evans; Treasurer, J. J. Evans; Auditor, W. W. Stone; Attorney General, T. M. Miller; Superintendent of Education, J. R. Preston. The convention endorsed Democratic doctrine, approved of Gov. Lowry's administration and especially commended his efforts to arrest prize fighters.

James Turner, an ex-Federal soldier, refused to accept a pension of $8 per month, saying that the pension system was ruining the country, fostering idleness and mendacity, and that he would never draw another cent so long as he was able to work. The Flemingburg Times-Democrat says that on the above grounds a jury promptly sent the honest fellow to an asylum for the insane. Corporal Turner should send each of those jurymen a pension certificate as a chrono.—Frankfort Capital.

The wheat crop of India, and Australia are both very short and America will have to feed the European. This leads a London correspondent to say: "It is now estimated here by experts that the Eastern hemisphere, as a whole, is worse off than it was a year ago at this time. There is, therefore, almost fearful interest in what the American crop will be like. The shortage over here will be so great that the market will be more at the mercy of the United States than ever before, and the next report from the Washington bureau is eagerly watched for as an indication of how severe a squeeze may be expected. During the last few days Russian wheat has been going up here, and a panic is only prevented by the fact that everybody in America seems to be confident."

With this news comes also the statement from Dakota that the crop of that territory will be 30,000,000 bushels short.

Colonel Evans' Speech.

Colonel Walter Evans, by appointment of the Republican State Central Committee spoke for a little over one hour, at the court house, Wednesday, on State and National issues. The main drift of the speech seemed to be intended to prove that it would be wholesome and expedient for the voters of Kentucky to elect Mr. Colson State Treasurer, in order to give the Republican party a chance to "examine the books," and ascertain the true condition of State finances and reveal any hidden deficiency that might exist. As promoter of this investigation of State finances, he urged the importance of electing "Squire H. B. Clark to the Legislature, whom he vouched for as a true and true Republican."

He said that on the election of Mr. Colson the new administration made a vigorous examination of the books in order to hunt up proof of Republican evil doing and corruption, which they claimed had been accumulating during twenty-five years of partisan misrule. The speaker said that he held at that time a position in the internal revenue department, which made the threatened investigation one of special interest to himself. But the investigation failed to reveal any criminality on the part of the several Republican administrations. This was a fact of which all Americans should be proud. He did not charge the Cleveland administration with corruption, and if it should prove after thorough investigation to be as free from delinquencies as its predecessors, he would again say that this was a subject of pride and congratulation to every American, as proof of national integrity and honesty. The speaker asserted that if there was little to be said between the two parties, now it was to be attributed to the fact that after fighting the Republicans for twenty-five years the Democrats had finally acquiesced in the national freedom, equal suffrage, national currency and human rights, as originated and established by Republicans.

Colonel Evans' speech was courteous and moderate in tone and he eschewed all intemperate or effusive personalities. He wooed and cooed to his perspiring auditors as gently as a "sucking dove" and the shirt which he waved in the sultry air was as white as Joseph's nether linen, as it fluttered through the chamber-door of Mr. Potphar.

But Kentucky will, nevertheless, not elect Mr. Colson, State Treasurer, this summer, though Col. Evans use all his powers of entreaty.

Hon. Edmund Rice, a Republican member of Congress from Minnesota, died last week.

The Ladies Delighted. The pleasant effect, and the perfect safety, with which ladies may use the liquid fruit laxative, Syrup of Figs, under all conditions make it their favorite remedy. It is pleasing to the eye and to the taste, yet effectual in acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels.

The Christian Workers. CRITTENDEN SPRINGS, July 16.—The Southern Convention of Christian Workers advertised to be held at Crittenden Springs, near Marietta, Ky., from July 16 to 26, inclusive, bids fair to be a complete success. Every speaker on the programme is expected to be present. The tabernacle, with a seating capacity of 1,500, is now ready, and in addition a Sunday School pavilion, with a seating capacity of from 2,000 to 2,500, has been prepared. There will be class room for daily exercise in vocal music and elocution.

"Sacred Melodies," a new song book, by E. C. Avis, will be used during the convention. It is estimated that there will be upwards of 10,000 people on the ground during the convention. A large number of rooms have already been spoken for, but there is yet ample room. The Hotel Company will endeavor to see that all who care to come will be provided for, and will do all in their power to make their stay pleasant.

TOBACCO NEWS.

LOUISVILLE TOBACCO MARKET.

Sales on our market for the week just closed amount to 3,275 Hhds with receipts for the same period of 2,821 Hhds. Sales on our market since January 1st, amount to 69,070 Hhds. Sales of the crop of 1888, on our market to date 49,707 Hhds. The offerings of dark tobacco were very large again this week on our market and there is no quotable change to note in prices. The market is dull and without any special activity except as regards especially good hogheads. As the season advances it would seem that the first estimates made on the planting this year were too large as regards the territory producing dark tobacco. The following quotations fairly represent our market for Dark tobacco both old and new.

Trash $1.00 to 1.75.
Common to Medium Hhds $2.30 to 3.
Dark leaf extra quality $3 to 4.50.
Common leaf $4.00 to 5.00.
Medium to good leaf $5.00 to 6.00.
Good leaf extra length $5.50 to 7.50.
Rich wrapper tobacco $7.50 to $12.75.

Gracey's New Church.

There will be services at the new Presbyterian church at Gracey on next Sunday morning and evening, to be conducted by Rev. J. C. Tate. The dedication of the new house of worship has been deferred until fall.

County Correspondence.

SINKING FORK, KY.

SINKING FORK, July 17.—Most of the farmers are done cutting oats. They are not of much account this year.

Mr. James Gresham has been very sick with erysipelas in his face.

Miss Nannie Tribble, who has been very low with rheumatism, is convalescent.

Miss Addie Stillier, of Era, Ky., is visiting her grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Stillier.

Miss Donna Wooley's school closed last Thursday.

Mr. Willis Wood has purchased a fine accordion and as he has no other amusement, he learns to play on the instrument.

Mr. Lucian Spurling is the mail carrier from Sinking Fork to Hopkinsville.

Miss Gertrude Weaver is visiting at Mr. Mark Cavanaugh's.

Mrs. Mary Wilson returned home a few days ago, after a several weeks' visit to Kelly Station.

Mr. James Kirby moved to the Wallace Ware farm last Saturday.

Professor Coynes, the long-talked-of artist, will make his appearance next Monday to take pictures at this place. Come boys and girls and have your "photo" taken.

Mr. T. G. Hiler, of Nashville, Tenn., has returned home after several days' visit to his mother at this place.

A little infant of A. E. Hume's died to-day with thrash.

Miss Kate Hamby has been very sick for the past week.

Dr. J. M. Ramsey is having a full Sunday School at Blue Hill.

AUNTIE.

FAIRVIEW.

FAIRVIEW, July 17.—The political pot begins to boil in Todd Co., now James D. Christian has announced himself as an independent candidate for the Legislature on the anti-prohibition question against Capt. N. B. Riley, who is believed formed a combination with the whiskey men and beat W. B. Brewer, our townsman, out of the Democratic nomination. Brewer favored prohibition. Now the people in Todd say they want Capt. Riley to give them his views on the whiskey question as that is going to be the issue.

E. A. Jones, who lives a few miles north of this place, had a hen to lay and hatch in the woods. He went to drive the hen and her chickens home and found a gang of young pheasants with her, they follow her just as if they were little chickens. Mr. Jones thinks he can domesticate them.

Mr. Wm. Tucker attempted to commit suicide last week by taking a couple of table spoonful of beat up glass. From some cause or other he did not die.

James McGehee and Miss Stroe were married Wednesday by the Rev. Thos. H. Shaw. Mr. McGehee is one of our most enterprising young men, a gentleman of high moral worth and unquestioned integrity.

Some of our thieves broke into the smoke house of W. T. Wines and stole about four hundred pounds of bacon from him last Friday night.

DEATHS.

Mamie Campbell Snodgrass, infant daughter of M. A. Snodgrass, died at Martinsburg, W. Va., this week, aged six months. An attack of whooping cough was the beginning of the trouble which terminated fatally. It will be remembered that Mrs. Snodgrass, who was Miss Mamie Campbell, of this city, died five or six months ago.

Miss Kitty B. Bell died at the residence of her sister, Mrs. F. B. Henry, in this city, Tuesday morning, aged 52 years. She had been an invalid for a long time and for some weeks her death was regarded as near at hand. Deceased was a member of the Baptist Church and her funeral services were conducted by Rev. John O. Rust at the residence of Mrs. Henry Wednesday morning. A large number of mourning friends accompanied the remains to the City Cemetery, where they were interred.

Emma Smith, in the city, Tuesday.

ATTENTION BATTALION.

The Third Regiment, including the Latham Guards, are Ordered into Camp.

By direction of the Governor and Commander-in-Chief, the following orders have been issued from the office of the Adjutant General:

HEADQUARTERS KY STATE GUARD, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, FRANKFORT, KY, July 18, 1889.

Special Order No. 10.

I. A Camp of Instruction of the 3d Regiment Kentucky State Guard, except Company C of said regiment, will be held at Grayson Springs from August 10th prox. to the 17th, inclusive.

II. The attendance will be voluntary, but all who attend will be required to remain till the breaking up of the camp. Uniforms, courtesy, through military discipline and good order will be observed, and it is hoped that every member of the companies composing the camp, who can conveniently do so, will attend.

III. The State will furnish transportation and rations to members of the camp, which will be provided by the Adjutant General, but will pay nothing for service or servants.

IV. The Camp of Instruction will be known as Camp George Rogers Clark, and will be under command of Col. S. H. Ford, to whom all orders and companies will report.

V. The Inspector General will select the camp ground before the arrival of troops; will carry out the system of instruction this day issued from the office of Adjutant General, and make report to the Adjutant General after the breaking up of the camp.

VI. By command of Governor Buckner. Official: S. H. FORD, Adjutant General.

The companies to go are those of Owensboro, Henderson, Bowling Green, Hopkinsville, Mayfield and Greenville.

Deafness Can't be Cured

by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness, (caused by catarrh) that we cannot cure, by taking Hays' Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

SMOKES BY PROXY.

A Millionaire, Employer, a Young Man to Do His Smoking for Him. I was in Scotland two or three days this week, said a Philadelphia attorney, and every day I saw somewhere on the street a tall, straight old fellow, with a long white beard, who was smoking a long pipe that reached almost to his waist, and he was puffing a cloud of smoke straight in the face of his companion, who bent forward to receive it, and inhaled it on his pipe with his nose and mouth. No one seemed to see any thing odd about this performance of the old gentleman and his colored companion, but I did, and my curiosity prompted me to ask an acquaintance for an explanation.

I learned that should gentleman was Ira Tripp, a millionaire coal operator, and one of the oldest natives of the Lockswains valley, being now past four score. The colored man was his valet, John. From boyhood until twenty years or so ago Ira Tripp was an inveterate smoker. He smoked the strongest and most expensive cigars he could buy. His health became greatly impaired when he was about sixty, and his doctors told him that he must either quit smoking or die. The old gentleman did not want to die, neither did he want to give up enjoying his weed. He did neither, and yet he gave up smoking. He has not had a cigar or a pipe between his lips since, but has indulged his love for tobacco smoke by inhaling it from a long, slender, smoking pipe. For a time he enjoyed his proxy smoking by requesting the company of smokers and asking them to puff their smoke in his face, but the miscellaneous quality of the tobacco thus inhaled was not satisfactory.

He then adopted the plan, says the Philadelphia Press, of carrying his own cigars and presenting them to smokers on condition that they smoke a cigar and give him the benefit of the smoke. As his cigars were always better than the average man could ever hope to attain, he was very popular. "Uncle Ira," as he is familiarly called, had no difficulty in finding smokers ready at his beck. This plan was not entirely satisfactory to the old man, either, and he finally resolved to hire a man to accompany him wherever he went, the man's only duty being to smoke a choice cigar as often as one was furnished him, and to blow the smoke in his employer's face. His present smoker, the colored man John, has been with Uncle Ira for several years, and the artistic way in which he manipulates his cigar smoke to the best advantage of his employer has made him indispensable to the old gentleman.

Several years ago a piece of a pump stock was placed in a spring at Newmarket, Pa., for safe keeping. It was taken out lately, and next day an eagle and a half foot long was found in it full of animation.
